More than ever, organizations need every dinar, dirham, or dollar spent on training to demonstrate a measurable return on investment. Furthermore, research shows that top talent looks for high quality development opportunities when considering job offers.

In response to these factors, we launched our newest program. Our five – day course steps a participant through everything one needs to know and do within the life cycle of training. It's an in-depth, activity driven atmosphere that is designed with a “how-to” emphasis. Included are tools for performing a solid needs analysis, how to select appropriate activities and games to reinforce learning and tips for creating evaluation metrics.

Each candidate has to deliver a presentation.
